6. The paper is likely to stimulate future research	6
7. Adequacy of literature review	6
8. The research methodology for the study is appropriate	6

SECTION-D: Reasons for recommending acceptance or rejection of this paper:

The paper demonstrates a sound grasp of the fundamentals and it is evident that the author/authors have read widely in relation to the topic at hand. The observations made are fundamentally sound. However, there are some areas where need further modifications/changes. Once these are addressed adequately, the paper can be included in the Journal. Please see comments below

Comments to Author/Authors

I trust that the following comments and observations will help clarify matters further.

1. Author should decide if he/she wants to use “and” or “&” between his/her end text references.
2. Under the literature review, the author should start each number on a new line. ---Also check Problem Based Learning, start each point on a new line.
3. Reduce space before discussion
4. Abstract: Although good background information. But it requires to add more findings, implications as well as limitations and also need to use more formal academic terms
5. The paper should acknowledge the limitations and also include the direction for the future research
6. A section of conclusion would add value to the paper
7. You must proof read your manuscript before submission to check for quality
- 8.

Please use a track changes to indicate how various comments were addressed

Recent developmentScope of the Journal

The Editorial Board recognises the importance of continuous improvement. Reflection and re-evaluation are integral to the on-going quality control process. From the outset there has been an awareness of the contribution that can be made by various stakeholders including reviewers, academics, and of course those who read and make use of the Journal itself. Therefore, we have recently narrowed the scope of the Journal to have major focus on Retail Business Management. Our goal is to foster and promote innovative thinking in retailing and associated business practice. Hence, research on retailing and International Retail Business Management remain universal interest. The Journal strives to be a means by which scholars and retail business experts disseminate their research.

Although the primary focus of the journal is concerned with retail and retail business management, it also interested in aspects that relate to retail such as HRM, Corporate governance, corporate social responsibilities and stakeholder engagement. Please visit for further details on current scope of the Journal and subject coverage: www.jbrmmr.com

DearProf. Justin Smith
Journal Operation Manager
Academy of Business and Retail Management (ABRM)

Greetings

I am really sorry. Due to my carelessness, after I re-read my paper entitled Antecedents individual entrepreneurial orientation (IEO): problem based learning (PBL) that is published on <http://www.jbrmr.com/details&cid=441> ...there is a mistake in the references.

There are two references that is not included in the paper. The references are :

Muafi (2017), Is there a relationship pattern between small medium enterprise strategies with performance in technology business incubator? International Journal Public Sector Performance Management, Vol. 3, No. 1, p. 18-39.

Muafi., Wijayani, A., Roostika, R and Poerwanto, M.E. (2016), Strategic role of women in chrysanthemum-based engineering design on disaster affected areas, International Journal of Business and Society, Vol. 17 No. 3, 413-428.

Is it possible for you to delete those references? Because in my country it could be break the publication ethics and I am afraid that it will affect my academic career.

Please help.

I will be waiting for your next information.

Thanks for your attention and cooperation

Best Regards

Jun Surjanti

Dear Jun Surjanti

Please confirm whether you want us to remove these two references from the reference list. In your email you have initially suggested that these are not included while later you have asked us to delete.

please clarify

best regards

Justin
