Dear Prof. Eduardo Goldani
Editor-in-Chief of Periodico Tche Quimica, Brazil

The following attachment is my revision version. I am very sorry if the response is too late. I hope you can understand the situation and condition. As the information, there are so many problems in our country, especially in my university dealing with the covid-19 pandemic. Many colleagues were victims. Therefore, I apologize to you to give me a chance.

I highlight the revision with the green colour for clear changes.

Let me know if any confirmation from you for my article.

Sincerely yours,

Nadi Suprpto, Ph.D

Dear Dr. Nadi, the manuscript "USING ONLINE THREE-TIER DIAGNOSTIC TEST TO ASSESS CONCEPTIONS OF IONIZATION ENERGY", contains some problems that must be solved prior to the publication. And you should be aware that the manuscript achieved a sufficient amount of grammar mistakes and/or plagiarism notifications to receive the fees of proofreading.

The estimated final price of the publication will be composed of: publication fee (USD 300), Proofreading fees (USD 200), and still optional but requested by you, a letter of acceptance (USD 40), and the PayPal transfer fees. Details available at <http://www.deboni.he.com.br/Revista_solo/en/taxas.htm>.

In addition, the manuscript should be improved in the following directions:

- a) At the preliminary reading of the manuscript, there were some articles and prepositions missing in the manuscript. There are wordy and wordless sentences it is possible to find both cases in this manuscript. Please review all the grammar modifications proposed.
- b) Improve the materials and methods section (very poor). This section should explain what was done in the research, the type of materials used, and how the methodology was applied. In the current format of the presentation, it is not good.
- c) The reference section must be improved, by the selection in some cases of better references, reduction of self-citation, and the use of APA style.
- d) Proper formatting of the manuscript
- e) The introduction section contains paragraphs with poor use of the references, please review it.
- f) Format the manuscript in accordance with the template file.
- g) Provide the requested modifications in the images used in the manuscript.
- A new evaluation will be done when we receive the improved version of this manuscript. On October 30 we will close the current issue of the journal. All the papers that are not 100% complete until this date will be considered for the next issue.
- Thank you, Luis De Boni.

Dear Prof Luis De Boni,

The following attachment is the revision version. I did some revision including paraphrasing, checking the grammar through Grammarly and turnitin checked for similarity.

Then, regarding the estimated final price of publication, including:
 publication fee (USD 300),
 Proofreading fees (USD 200),
 a letter of acceptance (USD 40),

I agree.

Please help me to make the article better and published.

Sincerely yours,
